

MISSION

Plants and animals possess powers that help them survive in nature, such as the ability to blend into a background, a hard beak to grab food, feathers for flying, seeds shaped like a parachute to travel in the wind, a fur covering to stay warm, and so much more. In this Quest, prepare to identify and assume a superpower or two. This will be a special power that only you can use when navigating Quests. In future Quests, you may identify more powers in nature to secure additional superpowers. You can never possess more than 5 superpowers at one time. You'll find the game is easier to win if you cooperate with other players to utilize their superpowers, too.

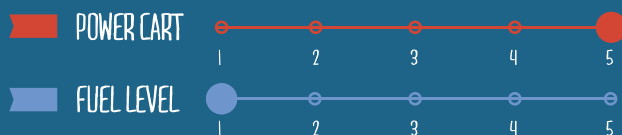

- Complete the Quest.
- Venture on a hike or play in nature searching for superpowers.

 What additional superpower would you like to assume?

- To active your power, act it out for another player!

 How can the superpowers you find be used in your Nature Quest adventure?

TRACK YOUR PROGRESS

Children
& Nature
Network

QUEST

POWER UP, DOWN & ALL AROUND

1

Poof! Everyone is a bird trying to collect supplies for a nest.

2

Keeping your hands in the shape of a fist, spend three minutes trying to collect supplies for a nest.

3

Gather as a team to discuss.

What was difficult about the challenge?

How was each player able to collect materials with the limitation?

Did you ever think of a thumb as having a special function?

How would our lives be different if we didn't have thumbs?

Anything that helps us / animals eat or defend ourselves is a superpower.

Review the Superpower Activation Cards.

4

On the count of 3, take 12 steps away from the group and freeze.

5

From your point of view, solve the mystery of what superpower a plant or animal possesses?

6

Use the Activation Cards to help you identify superpowers.

7

Tell another player about the power and how you think it helps the plant or animal.